Postgraduate Program in Periodontology

COURSE SYLLABUS

The course is organized in three full-time academic years (6 semesters – 40 weeks/year) comprising 180 European Credits (ECTS – 1 ECT accounts for 25 hours of workload).

The course contains an Academic Degree in Periodontology and a specific clinical training in all aspects of Periodontology and Implant Dentistry.

PURPOSE

The program aims towards the attainment of a high level of specialization of graduate dentists who will be capable of dealing with dental problems that require deep scientific knowledge and skills beyond those provided by the undergraduate level of knowledge in Periodontics.

Specifically, the purpose of the program is the provision of advanced theoretical knowledge and clinical experience for the treatment of patients with periodontal and peri-implant diseases as well as advanced implant placement.

Through this program, the further promotion of knowledge, the development of research, the satisfaction of educational, research and development needs of the country, as well as the promotion of the oral health in the Greek population are pursued.
